High school dropout Kay Ross motivates others to stay in school

by T. S. Kumbula

Before strangers she is shy, even retiring. One might even be tempted to call her lertagic. Trying to get her to talk about herself seems almost as painful as trying to pull her teeth.

But put Sharon Kay Ross, 37, in front of children and she is transformed into an enthusiastic, energized, even driven woman. For the past 12 years she has been the driving force behind a Back-to-School party held every August at the Munस्याна Homes.

According to her mother, Catherine Ross, "Kay has always been an ordinary girl. Unless you talk to her, you would never know what she has done for the community. But she does not seek praise and does not want a pat on the back. She just does what she thinks needs to be done, without seeking any reward or publicity."

Similar sentiments were echoed by her brother, Michael Ross, 39, who said, "She's a person who gives so much, but does not seek the limelight. She does not want praise. She has always wanted to help others but does not want to talk about what she does or has done. She just does it."

The first party attracted about 150 children. On Aug. 22 year attracted about 300 youngsters, from kindergarten through Grade 12, attended the party at 906 S. Jefferson. It is becoming quite popular.

"It's not unusual to be walking down the street and have some kids approach me to find out when the Back-to-School party is going to be held. Kids really look forward to it," said Ross.

Although most of those who attend are black, Ross said she has also been getting more white kids. What they get is a chance to socialize. "They play games, listen to music. We have a deejay present. They can dance and they can meet other kids," she said.

"We also have a watermelon-eating contest, sack races, ring tosses, etc. We want the kids to have fun before they return to school. During the games they can also win school supplies."

Each year Ross says she makes sure that each child who comes to the party gets at least a pencil and paper for school. "That may not sound like much, but some of the kids come from homes where it is hard to have access to such items, which they need for school," she said.

Ross is one of 10 children, six of them females, born to Mississippi-born Catherine Ross, now of Muncie, and Willie Ross Jr. of Mississippi. She, the seventh child, was born in Muncie.

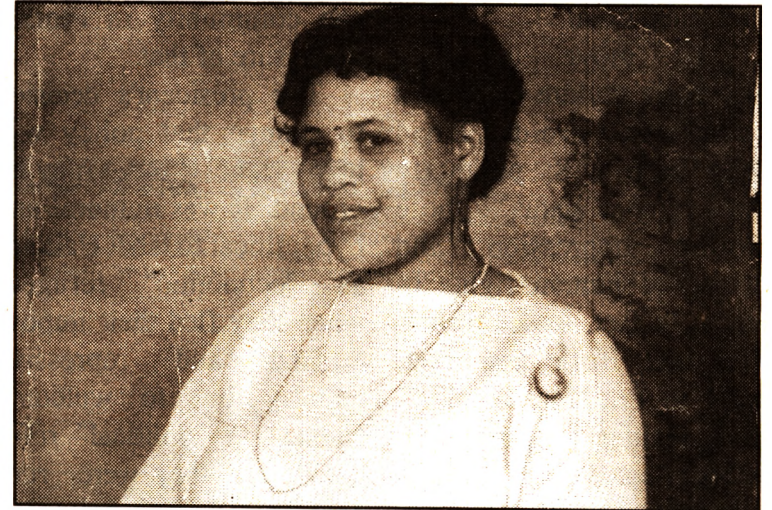

Her older brother, Michael, 39, of Muncie, said the Back-to-School party is a takeoff from what their mother used to do. When they were younger, her mother used to organize a party for her children, at which she gave them school supplies. The mother carried that over to her grandchildren.

"At the beginning of the school year, I would always give my grandkids a back-doing it," said Mrs. Ross.

"She's always been a to-school party. I was working at the time and could afford to do that. I saw it as just helping my grandkids.

"Kay took that over and just spread it to the entire community. She wanted to help the children in her neighborhood. She felt someone needed to do that. I was raised and she was raised to realize that it was better to give than to receive. So she just started

Women Honored by The Editor

Twelve local women, including a judge, an actress and a newspaper publisher, were recently honored during Women's Equality Day celebrations.

The honorees received certificates honoring the memory of the late Vivian Conley, referred to by some as Muncie's 'Mother Teresa' because of her many contributions to the community.

Award recipients were:

- Betty Shelton Cole, the city's female judge;
- Bea Moten-Foster, owner and publisher of The Muncie Times;
- Irene Goldman, of the Gender Fairness Coalition and the Ball State Gender Studies Committee;
- Carla Smith, a music educator;

Ex-Munsonians enjoy return home

by Judy Mays

August seems to be a favorite month for family and friends to get together. Recently, former Muncie residents Richard Douglass and Nanette (McPhaul) Douglass Lawary were in town.

"I make several trips a year. A couple of weeks ago I was in Muncie to help commemorate the life service of Rev. Dr. T. P. Broadus (Pastor emeritus Antioch Baptist Church) at his retirement. Now I've come back to reminisce with many friends at the 1959 Muncie Central High School class reunion, as well as the Embury-Burrell and Douglass-Young family reunions," said Douglass.

Douglass lives in Chicago where he is employed by the Lawary lives in Dayton, Ohio, where she is a nurse at the VA Medical Center and a nursing student at Andrews University.

Clinton Administration's new Cuban policy makes sense

President Clinton's measured response to the threatened influx of Cuban of refugees deserves support from all people, regardless of their political beliefs. If he and Florida Gov. Lawton Chiles had not acted to stem the tide, there was a danger that Florida's social, health and human services could have been overwhelmed by this latest flood.

The move to deny automatic asylum to Cubans was also long overdue. It had long been U.S. policy to deny refugee status to those fleeing oppression and denial of human rights in Haiti. In fact, under former President Bush and even early in President Clinton's term, Haitian refugees were being intercepted on the high seas and returned home, to face possible reprisals from the thugs misruling Haiti and their murderous accomplices.

But those fleeing Fidel Castro's Cuba were welcomed with open arms. Even plane hijackers who said they were fleeing communism were treated as heroes and promptly granted asylum. The Cuban-American community in Florida made sure of that.

The president's decision to change that policy will help level the playing ground. It was immoral and hypocritical to label Haitians as "economic" refugees when they fled their impoverished and repressive country but to welcome Cubans as "political" refugees when they were running away from their impoverished and also repressive government.

erished and also repressive government.

It grates on one's nerves to hear Republican leaders Robert Dole and Newt Gingrich lambast the president for deciding that no more Cubans would be automatically welcomed and that they would now be sent back to a refugee camp at the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo, Cuba, for processing.

Neither Dole nor Gingrich has ever expressed much concern over the plight of the Haitian refugees.

In fact both have warned President Clinton not to use force to overthrow the Haitian military dictatorship and replace it with the democratically elected government of President Bertrand Aristide.

Dole and Gingrich favor tougher action against Castro, but not against tin-horn Cedras. Why? Could it be that they don't care about Haiti because the victims are black, but do care about the Cubans because they are non-black?

For more than three decades the Cubans had received favored treatment. President Clinton took the morally and politically correct position by deciding to treat Cuban refugees the same way the Haitians are being treated. He deserves credit for that, despite the rantings and ravings of his opponents who seem more concerned with scoring political points with Cuban-American voters than with crafting a policy that is fair and defensible. ♦

Muncie Black Expo needs your support this weekend

This weekend the Muncie chapter of the Indiana Black Expo kicks off its Second Annual Summer Soul Fest '94. It is a family-oriented affair that will give Delaware County residents and others an opportunity to sample the richness and diversity of the African American heritage and culture.

It is our hope that all Munsonians will take advantage of this opportunity and of what Muncie Black Expo is doing in an effort to make this a better community.

Summer Soul Fest, started more than 20 years ago by the statewide Indiana Black Expo, is an opportunity to bring together people of all races, sexes, creeds and religions for spiritual, personal, societal growth, enrichment and development. It is a celebration of African American contributions in business, education, arts, politics, athletics and entertainment.

By knowing about other groups we are enriched. Our minds are opened up. We learn to respect each other and to realize that as a community we have to learn to coexist and to appreciate each other.

To use an overworked example, our society is like a salad. To savor its taste, we have to include various ingredients. Each ingredient adds something to the mix. The absence of one or more ingredients subtracts from that mix.

The Muncie Black Expo, like its Indiana Black Expo parent, is inclusive. It does not exclude anyone. Its membership rolls are open to everybody, as are its programs.

It is our hope that Munsonians of all colors will turn out in their hundreds to attend the group's ecumenical services Sept. 2 and the other Labor Day weekend activities, from the parade to the workshops, tournaments and related functions at Heekin Park. It will take all of us working together to improve the quality of social and community life in our city. The Muncie Black Expo, with your help, can start us on the road to that goal. ♦

A word of appreciation for article on Dr. Vashti Roberts

Dear Editor:

I have just finished reading your July 21st issue of The Muncie Times. I was so delighted to see on the front page, my good friend and Soroptimist sister, Dr. Vashti Roberts.

If I could take just a few minutes to share with you and Ball State University, how very fortunate you are that she taught.

I am a City Council person and she was a good friend to the city, also. As a member of Soroptimists International, she was always

I will miss her. The schools will miss her and our community will miss her. Our loss, is indeed, your gain. Take care of Vashti. Treat her kindly and she will be a great asset to your community.

MUNSONIANS VISIT

Chicago Bears defensive back Maurice G. Douglass. "Though Maurice doesn't get to come to Muncie often, he is very active with kids in his Chicago community," said Douglass.

"He has a year-round dedication and is at training camp now. He also plays for the Good News Bears (exhibition basketball team) for charities and college fund-raisers.

Not long ago, he was able to participate in a panel discussion for the Indiana Black Expo in Indy," said his father.

Last year, the veteran defensive back agreed to a 2-year $930,000 contract. In a poll of Bear fans, in January 1994, 91.2 percent voted to keep Douglass on the team. He was noted for making "big plays in key situations". The poll rated 57 players. Douglass was rated 13th.

"Also last year," said his mother, "Maurice became the co-owner of the New Image Fitness Club in Dayton."

"The club is located at 4321 Salem Ave., so when any of you Munsonians are in Dayton, stop in," said Lawary.

Douglass and Lawary commented on the changes they've seen in Muncie.

"I think The Muncie Times is the best thing that is going on here. It is definitely one of the best things that has happened," said Lawary.

"I think that this newspaper is the most positive impact within the black community. When I came (to Muncie), someone usually has saved them for me and I read them like a good novel," added Douglass.

Asked if they would be in town for Muncie Black Expo's Summer Soul Fest '94, both said they would be in Chicago for the start of the Bears season. "But" said Lawary, "we'll definitely mark it on the calendar for next year." ♦

COMMUNITY FOCUS

Confab on kids set at Ball State University in October

by Judy Mays

On Oct. 8, advocates, professionals, parents and policy makers will convene at Ball State University in Muncie to discuss issues of great concern to the children of Indiana.

"A Summit for Children: An Indiana Dialogue" will be an interactive gathering to review the status of children in our state and discuss advocacy efforts on their behalf.

The conference will involve an exchange of ideas, experiences and observations. Large and small group sessions will address advocacy efforts that reflect economic, social and moral issues, as well as political involvement.

There is no registration. Everyone who is seeking positive change for children should attend the conference Handwritten letters from grandchildren can be the best way to mark Grandparents Day on Sept. 11, according to experts in senior psychology.

"Often grandparents feel disconnected from their children and grandchildren. This can lead to feelings of abandonment and depression," said Dr. Carol Lytle Johnson, president of Senior Life Consultants, in Columbus, Ohio.

"Handwritten letters are positive and uplifting therapy for grandparents," said Dr. Paula Hartman-Stein, president of the Center for Healthy Aging based in Cleveland, Ohio.

Letters from grandchildren are a great way to reconnect with the older generation. Parents who encourage their children to pay attention to handwriting skills early on cultivate a valuable skill they will use for a lifetime.

KAY ROSS

very caring person and a very caring parent. I was a single parent, with very little help in raising my children. Kay was also a single parent, but she was caring and had a lot more patience in dealing with children. She always felt that it was important to help those who were less fortunate."

Added Michael Ross, "She's a decent person who has always cared about people and about her community. She has a love for kids. When we were young, our mom did it for us—the back to school party—and also did it for our kids. One day Kay and I were talking and she said, 'Wouldn't it be nice to have one for the kids in the Munsyana Homes?' That's how we got started."

"Kay knows the importance of an education. Even now she's making plans to return to school. She knows it's important to achieve and that the best way to do it is through education."

That is ironic because she did not finish high school. Kay Ross went from Longfellow Elementary to Garfield and Wilson schools and then on to Southside High School. She left Southside in 1974.

"I was in the 10th grade when I quit school. I just quit. I was going through a bunch of changes at that time. I don't know why I did it. I guess it's because I didn't know any better. I didn't feel I was accomplishing anything. I felt trapped. I quit school and I left home at the same time," she said. "I just ran the streets for a little while. Then I got involved with some dude and began staying home."

She is the mother of two daughters, Dorica, 20, who is attending Indiana Business College, and Marlina, 17, a Southside High School student.

"I am glad my children did not follow in my footsteps. I am glad they decided to stay in school. If they had tried to drop out I would have tried to discourage them," she said. "I regret what I did. If I had to do it all over again, I would have stayed in school."

"At that time my mind was not into school. It was not into what I was doing. I was not motivated. I got sidetracked. Later, I wanted to go back to school but I didn't. If I had a chance I would do it differently. I would stay in school."

"I hold these parties because I want the kids in the neighborhood to stay in school and graduate. We live in a world that is becoming more dangerous and more destructive. If the kids don't get help, if we don't do anything to help them, things will get worse."

Ross said she gets the school supplies from donors or purchases them with funds from volunteers who hold bake sales and other fund raisers. "I get supplies from wherever I can," she said.

"I look at these supplies as a start for children. I love to see kids go to school. My whole thing is to see kids do something for themselves. If they get pencil and paper that gives them a start in school. It may motivate them to stay in school and succeed."

Ross, a member of the Rev. W. C. Edwards' New Hope Baptist Church for the past 5 years, said she enjoys trying to give youngsters a positive start in life. However, she is not sure if she will have a Back-to-School party next year because she will soon move from the Munsyana Homes to 1111 E. Willard St.

"I don't know how long I will continue doing this. Each year I say I am going to quit, then I continue it. This year may be different because I am moving from here. If I continue to do it, we may have to move the party to a park," she said.

Michael Ross said, "Even though she's my sister, I have to say that what she is trying to accomplish at the Munsyana Homes is wonderful. She really wants to help people. I hope she continues and I pray to God that he will give her the determination to continue and the volunteers to continue helping her."

"We need more community involvement and more community support to help out youth. The city of Muncie is facing many problems. If we had one more person like Kay, that can help improve this community and make this a better city." ♦

CIVIL RIGHTS JOURNAL

AIDS becomes major killer of African Americans

by Bernice Powell Jackson

I heard a startling statistic a couple of weeks ago. I heard that more people have died from AIDS than the number of Americans killed in the Viet Nam War. More AIDS fatalities than fatalities.

In fact, the Centers for Disease Control estimates that nearly 1 million Americans, or one in every 250 people, are now infected with HIV. One in every 250.

If your office has 250 or so employees, one of them is probably infected with HIV. If your high school class is 250, one student has HIV. If your fraternity or sorority chapter has 250 members, one of them may have HIV. If your local church is a 250-member congregation, someone you are worshipping with is infected with HIV.

The reality is that AIDS is now the leading cause of death for men 25 to 44 and the fourth leading cause of death for women in that same age group. It is the sixth leading cause of death for young people 15 to 24.

Yes, I said it is the sixth leading cause of death for young people under 24. One of the fastest growing segments of the population suffering from AIDS today is teen-agers.

The fact that there were 14,000 American teen-agers with AIDS a year ago and nearly 13,000 cases between the ages of 20 and 24. A staggering 51,000 cases of AIDS were reported a year ago among ages 25 to 29. That makes 78,000 young people suffering from AIDS last year. If one were to include all those infected with the HIV virus, the numbers would be even greater. From what we know about the spread of AIDS, that number has increased significantly in the past 12 months.

Moreover, our babies are living with and dying from AIDS. Black children are more than 14 times more likely to contract AIDS than white children. In one city, San Francisco, 41 percent — nearly half of the babies with AIDS are African American.

It is important to say that AIDS of the 1990s is a people disease. It is not a gay men's disease or an iv-drug users disease. It is a disease of teen-agers and babies, it is a disease of hemophiliacs and heterosexual mothers. AIDS is a disease of the young and the old. And it is surely a disease of African Americans and Hispanic Americans as our numbers of infected people continue to grow. Lynora Williams, of the AIDS Action Council, warned, "Those who think they are insulated from HIV are mistaken." You can't contain an epidemic and AIDS is clearly an epidemic.

There are some, including some in the African American community, who warn that AIDS is a punishment by God for the wicked ways of modern humankind. But would God punish a newborn baby? Would God punish a hemophiliac child or an adult who had open heart surgery and became infected before they knew how to test blood for HIV? Do we really believe in that cruel and fickle a God?

Powell

In the midst of the controversies about treatment, the controversies about prevention and education, the controversies even about the cause of AIDS, there is some good news. Some stories of people doing something about this epidemic in our community. Some stories of people who are truly ministering to the least of these.

One such story is happening in the San Francisco area. God is working through the Ark of Refuge, Inc., a minority community-based agency which provides housing, direct services, spiritual healing and education and training for persons with HIV/AIDS in the Bay area.

The Ark maintains two clean and sober community living facilities with support services for "low income or no income" people living with AIDS. In Oakland, it provides permanent housing and support services at its Hazard-Ashley House.

In San Francisco, it operates The Restoration House for African American women with HIV/AIDS and their children. In addition, it provides training to the religious community and community organizations. It also offers advocacy and support services for people living with HIV/AIDS, caregivers and clergy.

The Ark of Refuge ministry grew out of the dynamic ministry of a young African American woman, the Rev. Yvette Flunder. Originally an associate pastor to Rev. Walter Hawkins, and a powerful singer herself, Flunder takes the well-known phrase "The doors of the church are open" seriously. In 1991 she founded the City of Refuge church, which has now grown to more than 500 members. It is her mission to bring God's love and human caring to those who feel that nobody cares for them.

For too long the African American community, and other communities of color, have been in a state of denial about AIDS in our community. Our men, our women, our teen-agers, our babies are living and dying from this disease. Let's get past the denial stage. Let's minister to our brothers and sisters with this disease, regardless of how they got it. Let's begin to talk to our teen-agers about how they can avoid getting AIDS. And let us begin right now. For tomorrow will be too late. ♦

Survival Tool

A sewing machine is an appliance, a convenience. But for many people in the world's poorest countries, it means much more. A sewing machine means clothing. Clothing means money. Money means food for a hungry family overseas.

Whether it's a sewing machine, a well for clean water, partnering with a community to build a school, or teaching new ways to harvest the land, Childreach is helping people in the poorest countries in the world help themselves.

To find out how you can become a Childreach sponsor and give a child, a family, an entire community, a hand up instead of a handout, call 1-800-240-9090 or mail the coupon below to Childreach, 155 Plan Way, Warwick, RI 02886-1099

Equal Payment Plan.

A Convenient Way To Budget For Your Electric Bill.

Electric bills vary from month to month. They go up and down with the seasons.

We can't do anything about the weather, but we can offer you a SMART way to help smooth out the ups and downs of your electric bill. It's our Equal Payment Plan.

With the Equal Payment Plan, we bill you a fixed amount each month based on your average yearly usage.

Your account is reviewed every six months to see that your budget payment is still as close as possible to your average use. At the end of the twelfth month you'll receive a settle-up bill or a credit.

If you would like to take advantage of the Equal Payment Plan, call us. And while you're at it, ask us how you can enroll in our Checkless Payment Plan too. We'll take it from there. We believe that, like many of our customers, you'll find it's a SMART idea.

INDIANA BLACK EXPO, MUNCIE CHAPTER ON YOUR SECOND ANNUAL SUMMER

History of Muncie Chapter of Indiana State Black Expo

by Judy Mays

The Muncie chapter of the Indiana Black Expo grew out of a concern to improve the quality of life for all Munsonians. Muncie Black Expo, a chapter of the statewide Indiana Black Expo, (IBE), seeks to: create and maintain an increased awareness and appreciation for African American culture and heritage; implement and support youth programs which foster more educational, professional and personal development; support economic development which benefits all sectors of the community; and promote activities which enhance the intellectual, physical, and spiritual development of individuals and society.

Years ago, the late Alice of its purpose to build a stronger community. This year the chapter's first annual corporate luncheon was held at the Hotel Roberts. Marilyn Brown, CEO of Indiana Black T. Kelley (then McIntosh) responded to the need to start a Muncie Black Expo group, which debuted at the Buley Center with an Arts Fair. Later, with the support of Harry Gudger, founder of Black Achievers, Inc., and Phyllies Burks, the first Muncie Black Expo was held in 1989.

The winner of the senior division was Tanya Ward. The junior division winner was Altramiece Edmonds. The two also participated in the statewide pageant.

In 1992, as a result of an interview during the Back to Muncie Reunion, as well as an interview done by Dr. Tendayi Kumbula, Ball State assistant professor of journalism and contributing editor of The Muncie Times with IBE President the Rev. Charles Williams, interest Expo, was guest speaker.

The luncheon was a resounding success. It allowed for a cross-section of the Muncie community to come together.

Last year's ecumenical was again expressed about having an active Muncie chapter of the highly successful, multi-faceted IBE service organization.

Meanwhile, during an interview, Muncie Mayor David Dominick told writer Judy Mays of his delight in participating in the Back to Muncie Reunion. "I don't see why Muncie couldn't have something like Black Expo to further the positive impact that has happened as a result of the Back to Muncie Reunion," Dominick said.

Mays discussed the possibility with The Muncie Times owner and Publisher Bea Moten-Foster. The two agreed to contact the community about starting an active chapter.

Teresa Turner, an Indianapolis native who was service gave the MBE Life Achievement Awards to the Rev. I.P. Broaddus, Dr. Robert Foster of Ball State, and Pastor Charlotte Levi.

Also, the MBE organized a Scholarship Fund to an administrative representative for Indian Gas Co., in Muncie, had also expressed interest in starting a chapter in Muncie. After several phone conversations, a meeting was held at the Holiday Inn, in Muncie.

Present were Helen Haynes, IBE director of chapter development-membership and IBE board member Artricia Brown.

Two weeks later, a second meeting, attended by 26 people, was held. At that time the Muncie chapter of the Indiana Black Expo became official.

First elected officers were Teresa Turner, president, Judy Mays, vice president, Alana Thedford, secretary, and Phyllies Burks, treasurer. Robert Gholar, was appointed activities director, while benefit graduating seniors.

There is in place a youth leadership program. Being developed is the Alice T. Kelley Award.

Despite its name, Indiana Black Expo

Demetrius "Dee" Harris became public relations director.

Later, Dr. Tendayi Kumbula was appointed public relations director, while Deborah Banks was elected secretary, to replace Thedford who had moved to Ohio.

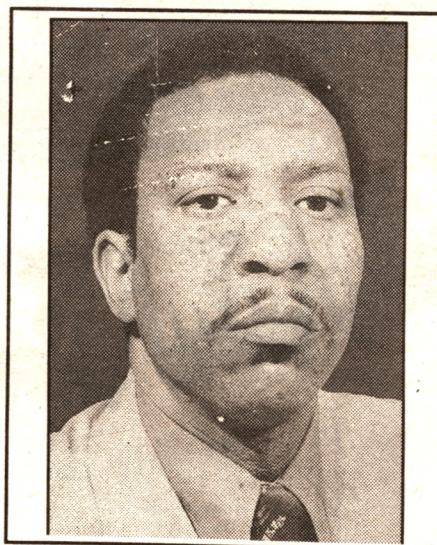

Barely 2 years later, the MBE has grown to over 75 members. IBE's first summer Soul Fest, held during the 1993 Labor Day weekend, kicked off the annual event with an ecumenical service at Christ Temple Apostolic Church. The theme was "Empowerment through Awareness." Jayne A. Burk was the chairperson. The keynote speaker was IBE President the Rev. Charles Williams.

Since that time MBE has made the public aware membership is open to all racial groups. MBE has a racially diverse membership.

The IBE, founded 23 years ago, has 14 chapters statewide.

"Resume Writing, Image Building & Interviewing Skills"	2 to 4 p.m.
Gwen Stepp	Cabin 1

Are you tired of being turned down, overlooked for that job promotion or career opportunity? This workshop discusses proven techniques to market oneself in today's work environment. It also warns of the common pitfalls applicants face during the job search. Anyone likely to be in the job market would benefit from this session.

"Community Summit"	2 to 4 p.m.
Curtis Westbrook , Coordinator	Cabin 5

Keeping this year's theme in mind, this mini-conference will focus on uniting people and resources and in identifying and addressing issues plaguing our communities. Everybody, including civic, religious and community leaders should attend this one.

"D.A.R.E. Program"	2 to 4 p.m.
Tracy Jefferson , Muncie Police Department	Cabin 2

This fun-filled workshop focuses on drug prevention and safety tips for our children. Your child will find this session most beneficial. This is for ages 10 and under.

"Gangsta Rap"	4 to 6 p.m.
Pastor W.C. Edwards, Deborah D. Banks, Judy Mays, Ahmed Kersey, Carlos Malone and Asunia Robertson	Cabin 2

Parents, adults and youths tackle one of today's toughest and most controversial issues. Whether you listen to Snoopy Doggy Dog or TLC, you will want to sit in on what is likely to be a lively and even spirited discussion about the negative or positive messages that rap music is sending out. Rap fans, non-rap fans and all those who enjoy music should find this session lively and interesting.

"Understanding Youth"	2 to 4 p.m.
Henry Fuse and Carl Malone	Cabin 4

Parents: Do you have a hard time understanding why your child listens to rap music, favors droopy pants, shaves his head or has unusual hair styles and has adopted other habits that drive you up the wall? This session focuses on the breakdown between parents and their children. This session is for parents, children and the community.

"Think Twice. Bearing with Peer Pressure"	4 to 6 p.m.
Randall Sims	Cabin 1

Are you a follower? A leader? This workshop session discusses what to do to overcome negative peer pressure and set a positive example that it is OK to be yourself and do what you think is right. Teens are most welcome at this session.

Keynote Speaker, Dr. Debbye Turner

Dr. Debrah (Debbye) Lynn Turner will be the keynote speaker at 7 p.m. on Sept. 2 during Muncie Black Expo (MBE) ecumenical services at Christ Temple Church, 645 N. Jefferson, Muncie.

The Friday evening services, which are free and open to the public, kick off MBE's Second Annual Summer Soul Fest scheduled for the Labor Day weekend.

Except for the services, the parade and a concluding Sunday night dance, all the other Summer Soul Fest '94 activities will be held at Heekin Park.

Last year's inaugural Muncie Summer Soul Fest speaker was the Rev. Charles Williams, president of the statewide Indiana Black Expo.

Turner graduated from Jonesboro High School in 1983. From 1983 until 1986 she was at Arkansas State University, from where she was graduated with a bachelor's degree in agriculture. Then she went to the University of Missouri, Columbia, where she completed a doctor of veterinary medicine degree in 1991.

In 1990 Turner was crowned Miss America, the culmination of a pursuit that took 7 years and 11 tries in two states.

Today, Turner lives in St. Louis, Mo., from where she has traveled around the country on speaking and other engagements. She is a motivational speaker who spends her time doing veterinary public relations, dealing with pet care and responsible pet ownership, talking about Christianity and addressing young people. Her speaking trips have taken her to Johannesburg, South Africa, and Rome, Italy.

According to her biographical materials, she has spoken to more than 200,000 students at more than 200 schools and colleges. Her favorite topics include the importance of education, personal excellence, determination and goal setting.

Turner has received many honors, including being listed in Who's Who Among Outstanding High School Seniors, National Council on Youth Leadership Flame of Leadership Award, National Centers for Missing and Exploited Children Outstanding Award, honorary doctorate of humane letters from the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff and the Debbye Turner Alumni Scholarship at Arkansas State University.

She belongs to a number of groups, including American Veterinary Medical Association, Association of Women Veterinarians and American Federation of Television and Recording Artists.

She has made numerous television appearances, among them the "Dave Letterman Show," "Oprah Winfrey Show," NBC's "Today Show," "NAACP Image Awards," "Miss America: The Untold Stories," and "You Bet Your Life."

Turner is on many local, state and national boards, including the YMCA of metro St. Louis, Missouri Division of Youth Services, Children's Miracle Network, and National Council on Youth Leadership. ♦

Muncie community participates in Kwanzaa celebrations

Kwanzaa is an African American holiday established in 1966 by Dr. Maulana Ron Karenga, founder and chairman of the U.S. Cultural organization. The holiday gets its name from a Ki-Swahili word meaning first fruits. It recognizes the importance of harvest: working together, family values, and community responsibility.

Children are usually given gifts of educational value and community leaders are honored. The family focuses on its commitment to each other for the coming year.

In 1992 Kwanzaa was introduced to the Muncie community by The Muncie Times with a service at the Minnetrista Cultural Center and a speech by Dr. Tendayi Kumbula, assistant professor of journalism.

The Children's Ministry and Starlight Band of Union Missionary Baptist Church sang "Ishe Komborera Afrika" - (God Bless Africa") under the direction of Barbara Kumbula. The 1993 observance of this family - community oriented holiday was held at the Horizon Center, was a remarkable success in terms of participation from the community and the business sector and the number of people attending.

The celebration featured a skit written by Judy Mays on the seven principles of Kwanzaa, an African Art exhibit (with contributions made by Ball State University,) Dr. and Mrs. Tendayi Kumbula, Garland Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Marshal.

Also included was an African clothing contest, refreshments, prizes, and a very thought-provoking speech by Dr. Kumbula.

Coordinator of the annual event is Judy Mays. The sponsor of the 1992 Kwanzaa celebration was The Muncie Times.

In 1993, the Muncie Black Expo agreed to sponsor Kwanzaa. Kwanzaa is observed Dec. 26 to Jan. 1.

Four mysteries deal with God's plan for the church

There are four mysteries that deal with the church. (1) The mystery of Christ and the church. (2) The mystery of Jew and Gentile in the same body. (3) The mystery of the Seven Golden Candlesticks. (4) The mystery of the translation of the saints.

These four mysteries deal with God's plan for the church as an independent body, separate from all other institutions, nations, races or any other systems. They show the operations of God with all nationalities included into one new man, whether they be Jews or Gentiles, in bondage or free, male or female, learned or unlearned.

It is shown throughout these mysteries that the church fits into God's plan for dealings with the nation of Israel. It (the church) is established between the 69th and 70th week of Daniel 9:25-27.

It is a mystery kept secret from the foundation of the world. Eph. 1:3; 3:1-6. To understand these four mysteries of the church will give an individual a good knowledge of the scope of the church, until the day of the rapture. To be ignorant of these mysteries will do much to the purpose of the church and its progress.

The mystery of Christ and the church as a bride espoused to one husband. "For I am jealous over you with godly jealousy: for I have exposed you as a chaste virgin to Christ. But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtlety, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ." II Cor. 11:2,3.

Another great lesson is

Bishop
W.J.
Duncan, D.D.

shown on this mystery in Ephesians 5:21-32. This shows the way the church should please Christ in all things. Eph. 5:24. The mystery of Jew and Gentile in the same body; teaches us how the church must blend and accept all nationalities, regardless of ethnic or racial backgrounds. It is shown that the church is a universal union of believers, not limited to geographical spheres and boundaries.

The strength of the church under this mystery will be phenomenal against the adaptation to this mystery will get rid of racial prejudice, civil wars, school segregation policies, etc. This mystery that deals with the Seven Golden Candlesticks depicts the church in its historical temperaments, showing the history of the church from the days of the apostles to the rapture of the church.

From a scholastic approach, it presents the art of dealing with each need of the independent church. Christ gave seven different forms or visages to each church. It ends its juncture with seven distinct promises to him who overcomes.

The mystery of the translation of the saints deals with the triumphant climax of the church from the earth into heaven itself. We will then appear in the presence of the Almighty God. It is the mystery that is kept secret from others, but revealed unto the church. I Cor. 15:51.

"To whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory."

This mystery deals with the third functioning of the redemptive purpose of God. God as Father ordained salvation for us. Gal. 3:8. Who also as Son, purchased salvation for us. Acts. 20:28. He as the Holy Ghost now applied salvation to the heart of the believer. Col. 1:27.

Another way we can say this is He who was for us and in us, the same Spirit that Christ is in us. The scripture said: "And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of His Son into your heart, crying Abba, Father." Gal. 4:6.

The whole purpose of God is to have a Son. Not to make an angel a son. "For unto which of the angels said he at any time, thou art my Son this day have I begotten thee?" Heb. 1:5. But when God wanted to make man he said, "Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle and over all the earth and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth." Gen. 1:26.

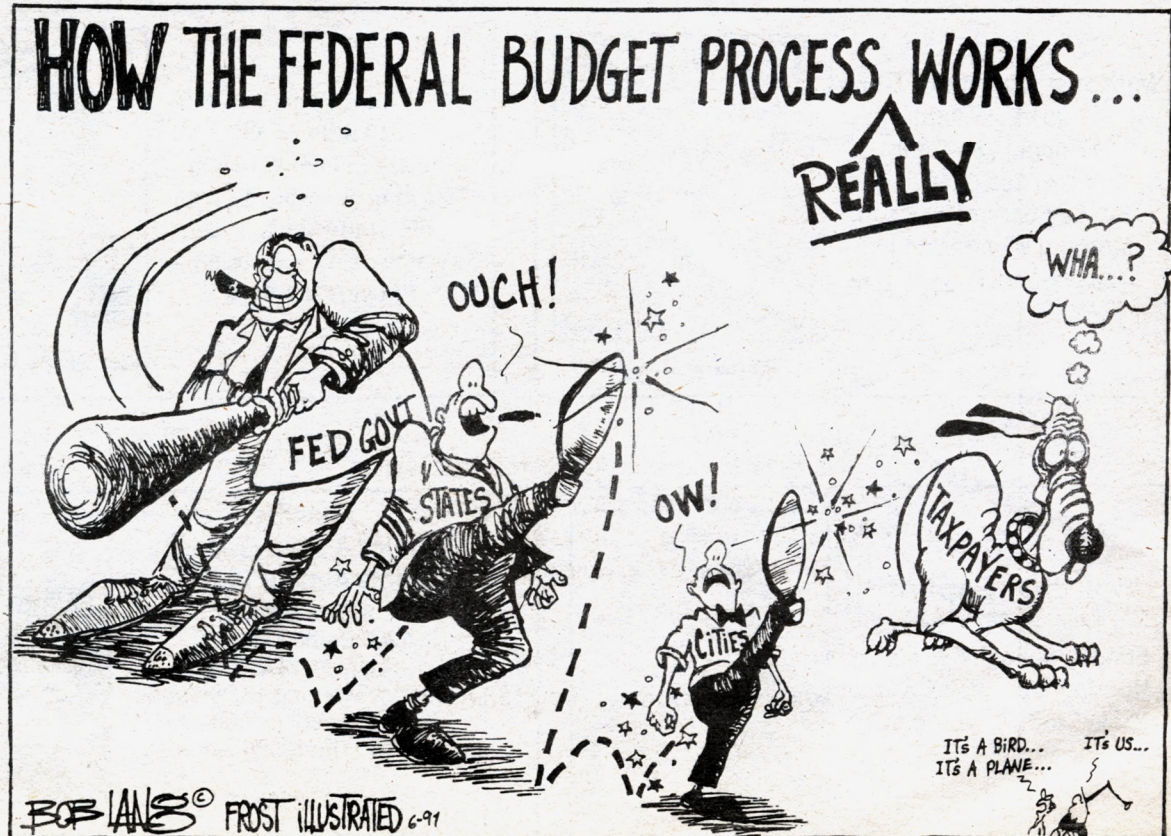

In that created act man became God's son. The scripture shed light on this by saying: "Which was the son of Enos, which was the son of Seth, which was the son of Adam, which was the son of God." Luke 3:38.

Man fell from that position of Sonship. In Hebrew the scripture gave the sad account: "But one in a certain place testified saying, what is man, that thou art mindful of him or the son of man, that thou visitest Him? Thou madest him a little lower than the angels: thou crownedst him with glory and honor, and didst set him over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things in subjection under him; he left nothing that is not put under him. But now we see not yet all things put under him." Heb. 2:6.

At this juncture man lost the image of God. He is not at this point God's Son. Man must be brought back into the image of him that created him. Col. 3:9; Tit. 3:5.

Adam, that is man was in need of someone to bring him back to Sonship. A man must redeem a man, and restore him.
